

Data Set 11
(Hollywood Life)

→ phrased in a way to shame the person / humiliate

Kylie Jenner, 17: Six Or More Plastic Surgeries Revealed — Report

By: Chloe Melas

Wow -- the youngest of the Kardashian/Jenner clan, Kylie Jenner, has undergone six or more plastic surgeries over the past two years, including a chin implant and nose job, according to a new report. Do you believe she's really gone under the knife? Kylie Jenner has a new face and she reportedly loves it. After being severely bullied for years, Kylie, who is only 17, begged her mother, Kris Jenner, to let her get plastic surgery and she finally let her do it, claims a new report.

→ frame as an entitled person

Kylie Jenner, 17: Six Or More Plastic Surgeries Revealed — Report

Kylie was tired of everyone always talking about how beautiful her sisters were, so she took matters into her own hands.

Kylie Jenner & Tyga: Her Plans To Marry Him Revealed

Although Kylie has publicly denied getting any surgery but Ok! Magazine claims that the reality star, who just purchased a $2.7 million dollar home, got a breast augmentation, an eyebrow lift, upper eyelid surgery, a chin implant, jaw reshaping and a nose job.

→ provides specific details on plastic surgery

Kylie Jenner Plastic Surgery Reason — Why She Had 6 Procedures Done

"Kylie never saw surgery as being taboo, because her sister have all done it," an insider says. "She sees it as a means to an end."

This all stems from having her "awkward" years out there for the entire world to see on Keeping Up With The Kardashians.

"Going through her awkward phase [on TV], she was severely bullied and subjected to harsh public scrutiny," adds the source. "All she ever heard was people talking about how much prettier Ki, Kendall and even Kris were."

→ sexualizing

Kim's Boobs On Full Display In Paris

Meanwhile, her big sis, Kim Kardashian, who has had her own surgeries, is flaunting her body all over Paris. The reality star is wearing plunging tops and constantly posting selfies. It's no wonder that Kylie feels the pressure to compete with her sisters.

→ shaming women's choice or confidence

"She loves the way she looks now," the source tells the magazine. "And she wants to show it off at every opportunity."

HollywoodLifers, do you think Kylie has had too much plastic surgery?

Data Set 12

(People)

Millie Bobby Brown Reveals Her Acne in Makeup-Free Selfie Alongside Glam Shot

Brown gave a nod to her beauty and skincare brand in the caption of the post, writing, "@florencebymills send help!"

Millie Bobby Brown is getting real with her fans about her skin.

→ written to show strength and courage

placing an emphasis on her age
→

→ noting her famous shows

The Stranger Things star, 19, shared two photos on Instagram Monday in which she revealed she was going through an acne breakout.

The first photo was a mirror selfie of the actress turned to one side as she held up her hair while looking at the camera. In the next slide, Brown shared a close-up of her makeup-free face as she pursed her lips.

→ appreciating achievements

She gave a nod to her beauty and skincare brand in the caption of the post, writing, "@florencebymills send help!"

→ authentic person

Brown has showcased her real skin and gotten candid about "embracing the imperfections" before, as she did in a March Instagram video. At the time, she shared her skincare routine with fans and her favorite Florence by Mills products for combatting a breakout.

Back in 2019, Brown told PEOPLE that the brand's name was inspired by her grandmother Florence, who helped her love her natural beauty.

"My grandmother embraced her individuality a lot and she expressed herself. I definitely relate to that," she said. "I've been told I'm like her in that respect, and I wanted that to represent my brand as well."

Brown also said that she hoped the brand would help educate people of her generation on the importance of skincare.

"I think there was a void in the market for young people and I think every young person deserves to have a good start to their skincare routine and beauty routine," she said at the time.

Many of her fans praised Brown in the comment section of her Monday Instagram post for being honest about her acne.

"Love how you show off your acne. it is normal and okay to get breakouts.♥," wrote one social media user. Another fan added, "Thank you for normalizing breakouts. ♥♥."

Brown's fiancé, Jake Bongiovi, also left a message, writing, "Love it."

→ another noting of success

The Enola Holmes actress recently shared in an interview with Glamour that Bongiovi, 21, has been an essential part of her personal growth.

"I was like, 'Why do you love me? And then he listed all these things that I hated about myself. I was like, 'You see good in those things?' And he was like, 'Of course I do,'" she said.

"Those are things that I love about myself now," continued Brown. "He was a really big, huge part of me loving myself and becoming a woman. It was like, 'Wow, I really love this person because he allows me to love myself.'"

The two first sparked romance rumors in June 2021 after sharing a photo together on Instagram and announced their engagement in April 2023. For the announcement, Brown shared a black and white snapshot of the two on Instagram with lyrics from Taylor Swift's "Lover," writing, "I've loved you three summers now, honey, I want 'em all 💖."

The photo showed the couple embracing one another on a beach and Brown wearing a diamond ring on her left hand.

Data Set 12 (3)
(Vulture)

Millie Bobby Brown's Tarot Cards Read 'Gloria Steinem'

By Jason P. Frank

Psychics can do a lot of things — talk to your dead grandfather, read the stars, tell you when a strong, handsome man is coming into your life, etc. But one thing we didn't realize is that they can also turn you into a full-fledged, Woman of the Year-winning feminist. At least that's what happened with Millie Bobby Brown, Stranger Things star and future wife of the heir apparent to the New Jersey throne. The actress celebrated being one of the Glamour Women of the Year by recalling the moment she became a feminist. That is, the moment a psychic told her she already was one. After meeting with the psychic, Brown went home and "googled, 'How do I know if I'm a feminist?'" Upon doing research ("reading articles and books"), the actress says she "really grasped the idea of feminism and what it means to me." "Ultimately it's about opportunity," she added. And look at her creating just that with her production company, PCMA, behind her upcoming movie Damsel, in which she will star with Angela Bassett and Robin Wright. The theme? "Feminism." Well, of course. More psychics need to be setting up the dominoes for Angela Bassett movies.

hetero normative marital status is highlighted normalizing of sexualizing

female superheroes
/
click bait
/
opposes the title

Data Set 4

(The Hollywood Life)

Margot Robbie Joins 'Pirates Of The Caribbean' Franchise In New Reboot: See More Sexy Female Superheroes

Margot Robbie is about to conquer the high seas, as she's getting her own stand-alone 'Pirates of the Caribbean' film. We've got details about the new female-led movie.

By: Beth Shilliday

Margot Robbie knows how to play tough characters, from the fictional DC Comics villain Harley Quinn to the real life skating scrapper Tonya Harding. Now she's going to be bringing it as a fierce conquerer of the seas in a new Pirates of the Caribbean film. While it won't be part of the Johnny Depp-led franchise that he's fronted for five films, it will be a stand-alone movie with all-new characters, according to a June 26 story by The Hollywood Reporter. At 29, Margot has proven she can open films on her own, and play such a wide range of characters with complete commitment to the parts. Margot as a pirate queen is going to be epic!

The film is still in the early stages of development, so there's no exact details on the plot or characters. But its safe to say Margot will probably be learning how to sword fight and get some tips on how to take charge of a sailing ship. The film will still get its inspiration from the Pirates of the Caribbean attraction at the Disney theme parks, just as Johnny's POTC franchise did. It is also separate from the POTC reboot for a sixth series in the franchise, which may or more likely may not see Johnny return as Captain Jack Sparrow.

Actress Margot Robbie attends the 'Birds of Prey' premiere in London, on Jan. 29, 2020.
Photo credit: REX/Shutterstock

Margot is continuing to make sure women are getting high profile assignments on her her projects, as her Birds of Prey scribe Christina Hodson will be writing the script for the yet-untitled film. Christina knows how to go big when it comes to fantasy-action films, as she also wrote the screenplay for John Cena's Bumblebee, and the upcoming superhero flicks The Flash and Batgirl.

Margot has proven she can do it all on the big screen. From playing disgraced figure skater Tonya Harding in I, Tonya — which landed Margot an Oscar nomination — to late 1960s starlet Sharon Tate in Once Upon A Time In Hollywood, she's so versatile! The Australian born star is so darn busy these days though, so its unclear when her Pirates film will get a start date. But with Disney's might and a built in audience from the five existing Pirates films, this movie will likely become a top priority. When the story about Margot taking on a POTC film broke, her name became the top trending topic on U.S. Twitter, with fans loving the news of her fronting a female-led Pirates.

Margot's a busy lady. She has already been announced to play the iconic blonde doll Barbie in a live action film, and Robin Hood's love Maid Marian, who avenges his death in the period-thriller Marian. She'll also be reprising her Harley Quinn role in Gotham City Sirens and will be starring in a still untitled project from Director David O. Russell. But Margot as a pirate queen has to be her most anticipated new role!

Data Set 5

Margot Robbie: See The First Full-Length Look Of Her Sexy New Harley Quinn Costume same as data set 4

↳ seems like "sexy" is an important trait for female superheroes

Margot Robbie was an incredible sight to see in L.A. on Feb. 1, when she stepped out in a colorful ensemble for her portrayal of the fictional character, Harley Quinn, during the filming of the upcoming movie, 'Birds of Prey'.

By: Erin Silvia

Margot Robbie, 28, was hardly recognizable on Feb. 1 when she stepped out in full costume for her role as Harley Quinn in the upcoming film, Birds of Prey. The talented actress was in the middle of filming in Los Angeles when she showed off her colorful ensemble, which consisted of a pink crop top, striped cut-off shorts, and a multi-colored shrug full of tassels. She also wore colorful ankle boots and had some of her blonde hair colored pink and green. Fake leg tattoos topped the spunky and sexy look, leaving her incredibly transformed into the fictional character.

Margot showed off her quirky image while filming outside of a fruit market, and at one point, she held a sandwich and flashed a mischievous smile during the scenes. Margot is set to not only act in the new film, which is about a group of female super villains, but to also produce it. Cathy Yan is working as the director, and Mary Elizabeth Winstead and Jurnee Smollett-Bell are co-starring as Huntress and Black Canary respectively, according to Variety. The film will feature Margot's character right after she left her love interest, the Joker.

Margot already played the role of Harley Quinn in the 2016 film Suicide Squad. Birds of Prey is a spin-off of the film, so it's definitely leaving DC Comics fans in high-anticipation of its release, which is set for Feb. 7, 2020. Margot is also reprising her role for Suicide Squad 2, which will be released in 2021.

We're super excited about seeing Margot's appearance in Birds of Prey! As an actress who's known for taking on amazing versatile roles, we're sure this one's no exception, and we can't wait to find out how it all turns out!

Data Set 6

Beyonce's Beyhive Goes After Britney Spears After Singer Claims She's The Real 'Queen B'

Oops she did it. Not again, but Britney Spears really stepped in it by calling herself 'Queen B' in an IG post, which has long been Beyonce's nickname. That set off Bey's 'Beyhive' of fans to come swarming in.

By: Beth Shilliday

Reading Time: 3 minutes

There are certain fan bases you just don't toy with, and Beyonce's "Beyhive" is at the top of the list. Britney Spears unfortunately didn't seem aware that the "Formation" singer's fans — and most of the world — know her has "Queen B." Brit shared Instagram post on June 24, addressing her fans who call her by the same nickname. She wrote, "To all my fans who call me Queen B....I believe this would be more accurate!!!!!" including a drawing of a regal looking bee. Many of Britney's fans often call her "Queen" in Instagram post comments...but she didn't seem to realize that "Queen B" is a whole different superstar.

Britney Spears' caption to an Instagram post about how her fans call her 'Queen B.' Even though that's long been Beyonce's nickname. Below, here fans gave her warning that there's already one Queen B in the music world.

Next to Britney's caption was a drawing of a golden bee with rows of diamonds in place of stripes. It had silver wings and a regal looking gold and diamond crown above the antennae. While Britney is pop's princess, Beyonce is widely known as Queen Bey or Queen B. Even the 38-year-old "Slumber Party" singer's fans had to remind her of that, in addition to those of the Beyhive who flew in

User @veerarintamaki wrote, "omg beyoncé is the queen b," while @ellen_macintosh scolded, "Beyonce is Queen B, don't get it twisted Brit." @durndown4wut commented,

"Beyoncé fans not gonna like this." @joseph_anthonyg bemoaned, "Oh lord baby girl we can't take the Hive," as @imjohnnorman also seemed to know what was coming, taunting, "Shots fired beyhive," with a bee emoji. Fan @joselynpotter pleaded, "Nooooo Beyoncé's fans are going to come after her! Please be nice Hive."

A few of Brit's die-hard fans were still sure she deserved the Queen B title, with @theteacherjey commenting, "Beyoncé who? U're the real queen." But @culturespoon sweetly told the singer, "You are Queen Britney for sure, but the Queen B title is for someone else. You're amazing."

Britney and Beyonce have crossed paths during their career, with the most iconic moment taking place when they co-starred in a truly epic 2004 Pepsi commercial. Brit was at the height of her superstardom, while Bey had embarked on a solo career a year prior after leaving Destiny's Child. Along with Pink, the ladies dressed as sexy gladiators in metal bikini tops while Queen's "We Will Rock You" played. Britney got to sing the first verse, being the biggest star, then Beyonce took the second verse.

refers to powerful & famous women using "ladies" weakens the impact of these women female celebrities always associated with "sexy"

Hopefully Britney's experience with the Beyhive won't be too rough. After all, she showed Beyonce major love by using lyrics from the 38-year-old singer in April while clapping back against Instagram trolls. Brit wrote, "Learning to love you sometimes is the hardest thing to do, and do you know how I show that? By posting whatever the heck I want. If I want to post a picture with the same outfit three times....I will do so and take note from Beyonce because I am FLAWLESS!!!!!! But seriously keep your mean comments to yourselves."

Data Set 7
(E!News)

Michael Phelps and Pregnant Wife Nicole Reveal Sex of Baby No. 4

By ELYSE DUPRE

NOV 02, 2023 10:07 AM

women are defined on marital status & pregnancy

once women get married they're linked/defined by men making men center

After Michael Phelps' wife Nicole announced they're expecting baby no. 4, she revealed the sex of the child and her reaction to the pregnancy.

Michael Phelps and wife Nicole Phelps will soon be diving into life as a family of six.

shows that Nicole is not just wife but her own career

After the Olympic swimmer and the former Miss California announced they're expecting their fourth child, she revealed the sex of the baby—telling Today.com they're expecting another son this February.

clothing is always included

"I would have loved to have a daughter for Michael so he could have that father-daughter bond that I experienced growing up," Nicole told the outlet in an interview published Nov. 1. "But I strongly believe you're given what you're supposed to have, and I'm really excited to have another boy."

The little one will join big brothers Boomer, 7; Beckett, 5; and Maverick, 4.

"Sometimes it's difficult when people say, 'Oh, you need that girl,'" Nicole continued. "I'm like, 'No, I really don't.'"

Michael and Nicole first shared the baby news on their seventh wedding anniversary—informing fans in an Oct. 30 Instagram post that they're expecting their "4th Phelps" in 2024 and posting a picture of her cradling her baby bump.

As the 38-year-old recalled to Today.com, she found out about the pregnancy after going to the doctor for headache pain and informing the physician her period was due to start two days prior. When the doctor told her to take a pregnancy test just in case, she continued, she remembered thinking, "'There's no way.' And now here we are."

While Nicole said Michael was thrilled from the get-go, she noted it took her "some time to process" the pregnancy—sharing she's happy but knows the demands of parenthood.

"Listen, I'm a mom and I know how much work that it takes," she said. "I personally believe in pretty much sacrificing two years of my life to this new baby. But we are so excited. I don't even want to call him a surprise because he is wanted. He's the bonus we didn't know we needed."

And the model and the gold medalist aren't the only ones looking forward to adding a new member to their team.

"The sweetest thing is how genuinely excited the boys are to meet their brother," she added. "Having four boys will be crazy but wonderful."

While the Phelps' baby won't make his debut until 2024, here's a look back at stars who welcomed little ones in 2023.

Data Set 8
(E!News)

Vanessa Hudgens Reveals If She'll Take Cole Tucker's Last Name After Their Wedding
By HAYLEY SANTAFLORENTINA
NOV 02, 2023 11:49 AM

Vanessa Hudgens recently revealed if she'll swap her last name when she ties the knot with fiancé Cole Tucker.

Soon, Vanessa Hudgens can swap "T as in Troy" for "T as in Tucker."

women defined by their relationships

The High School Musical alum recently shared where she stands on taking fiancé Cole Tucker's last name when she and the MLB player tie the knot.

"Yeah I'm probably going to take it," Vanessa told Today's Hoda Kotb and Jenna Bush Hager during a Nov. 2 appearance on the morning show. "Professionally, it's obviously going to stay the same, but yeah. Mrs. T."

The 34-year-old has been sharing her journey to the aisle since she and the baseball player got engaged in February. In fact, she recently celebrated with a spooky season themed Bachelorette trip to Aspen, Co., with a group of girlfriends, including her sister Stella, Sarah Hyland, Barbie actress Alexandra Shipp, Hamilton performer Morgan Marcell and Shake It Up dancer Laura New.

In a snap the Spring Breakers actress shared to Instagram, her pals posed in all black around a dressed-in-white Vanessa. She captioned her Oct. 26 post, "Love a theme night. Can you guess what it was?"

Vanessa officially revealed the answer during her Today appearance.

"So I told my girlfriends to dress for my funeral," the Princess Switch star explained. "You know, because it's death to like my single self, death to Hudgens. Let's do it, but like really do it. So I sent them photos of like chic funeral wear."

But when it comes to spooky season, Cole doesn't share Vanessa's adoration—though the athlete is a team player about it.

"He's just not like a seasonal person," she explained. "He didn't grow up super celebrating the holidays. I definitely come up with costumes for us, and I get it, and I'm like, 'Here you go babe!' And he throws it on and he's down to do it."

To relive Cole and Vanessa's romance from the very beginning, keep reading.

February 2021: Instagram Official

Vanessa shared her first Instagram photo with Cole on Valentine's Day 2021, three months after the two sparked romance rumors with a romantic dinner date in Los Angeles. She captioned the pic, "It's you, it's me, it's us. @cotuck."

November 2021: Tick, Tick... Boom! Premiere at AFI Fest

The two attend the premiere of the film, starring Vanessa, at 2021 AFI Fest in Hollywood, Calif.

November 2021: Tick, Tick... Boom! Premiere in NYC

The two attend the premiere of the Netflix movie in New York City.

February 2022: Valentine's Day

"Happy vday from us crazies," Vanessa captioned this Instagram pic.

February 2022: John Mayer Concert

The two watch John Mayer perform at Los Angeles' Hollywood Palladium for SiriusXM and Pandora's Small Stage Series.

February 2022: SAG Awards

The two walk the carpet at the 28th Screen Actors Guild Awards in Santa Monica, Calif.

February 2022: Engaged!

Vanessa and Cole confirmed their engagement on Feb. 9, sharing a picture of the actress rocking some bling on her wedding ring finger. "YES," the Instagram post read. "We couldn't be happier."

April 2022: MLB Opening Day

Happy opening day my [king]," Vanessa captioned this Instagram tribute to her partner, a Pittsburgh Pirates player at the time, which she shared on the MLB's opening day in 2022.

September 2022: Play Ball

The actress appears with her partner on the baseball field.

October 2022: Happy Halloween

"Happy Halloween from Sting and Miss Argentina," Vanessa captioned this Instagram pic

December 2022: Holiday Spirit

"Merry af," Vanessa captioned this Instagram photo.

Data Set 9

(US Weekly)

Vanessa Hudgens Reveals Whether She'll Change Last Name After Cole Tucker Wedding

By Johnni Macke November 2, 2023

→ ideology that marriage is the goal of women in life

Vanessa Hudgens is ready to break free from her single life and fully embrace marriage once she and fiancé Cole Tucker tie the knot — and that includes a name change.

"Yeah, I'm probably going to take it," Hudgens, 34, said of switching her last name to Tucker while appearing on the Thursday, November 2, episode of Today With Hoda and Jenna

The Princess Switch 3 actress noted, "Professionally, it's obviously going to stay the same, but yeah, Mrs. T."

Hudgens already leaned into the idea of being married with her October bachelorette party theme. "So, I told my girlfriends to dress for my funeral," she explained. "You know, because it's death to, like, my single self, death to Hudgens. Let's do it, but, like, really do it. So, I sent them photos of, like, chic funeral wear."

The High School Musical star wore a white gown during one of the group's nights out in Aspen, Colorado, while her crew dressed in all black.

Despite the dark and deadly vibe, Hudgens said the getaway was “great” and “very magical.” In fact, she called the weekend “really grown” because of the relaxed itinerary. “It was a zen hen,” she said with a laugh. “We did yoga. We did sound baths. We went hiking. It was like a health retreat.”

Following her girls’ trip, Hudgens reunited with her partner to celebrate her favorite night of the year: Halloween.

“He’s just not, like, a seasonal person,” Hudgens explained of Tucker, 27. “He didn’t grow up super celebrating the holidays. I definitely come up with costumes for us, and I get it, and I’m like, ‘Here you go babe!’ And he throws it on and he’s down to do it.”

This year, the couple dressed as Zorro and Elena from 1998’s The Mask of Zorro. They later embodied rockers Slash and Axl Rose of Guns N’ Roses for a separate holiday bash.

Hudgens and Tucker were first linked in fall 2020 but didn’t make their relationship Instagram official until February 2021. Us Weekly confirmed in February that the Pittsburgh Pirates player proposed in late 2022.

One week later, Hudgens shared a photo of her engagement ring with the Eiffel Tower in the background. “YES. We couldn’t be happier!” she captioned the snap.

Hudgens opened up about the milestone during an April appearance on the Today show. “It feels amazing,” she gushed. “It’s so funny, I was talking about this with Cole. People are always like, ‘Does it feel different? [Do] things feel different [getting engaged]?’ That was always my question normally, but now I get to be asked it. And you know what, it actually does. There’s a sense of security. You feel so safe. It’s the best thing ever. I love being a fiancée.”

Data Set 10

The Truth About Selena Gomez's Plastic Surgery Rumors

Story by Carolina Monclou

Speculation about Selena Gomez's plastic surgery continues to circulate, with rumors of breast enhancement and possible nose refinement.

Fans and critics alike have commented on Gomez's appearance, praising her beauty while questioning any potential cosmetic procedures.

Gomez remains focused on body positivity, emphasizing the importance of self-confidence and shutting down body-shaming comments.

It has been a few years now since rumors regarding Selena Gomez's plastic surgery have circulated on the internet. Hundreds of questions have since been posed regarding the star having done an enhancement surgery in secret. The speculation about Gomez and the surgery has remained strong enough to impact the artist's life. However, until recently, there was no definite answer whether the star had gotten her surgery done or not.

There's no denying that Selena Gomez is a highly popular person whom people want to talk about. As proof of this, a documentary of the singer was released in late 2022. Given her popularity, it is understandable that Selena is also quite busy with her cosmetic line and brand partnerships. Selena's brand, Rare Beauty, has taken over the beauty industry. However, with such a high degree of attention comes a great deal of criticism.

So, did Selena Gomez actually get plastic surgery? Here is everything about the star's speculated cosmetic procedures.

Updated on September 13th, 2023: It was recently speculated that Selena Gomez also underwent 'fox eye surgery.' The rumors started spreading after a side-by-side picture of Selena's close-ups was shared on Instagram by the account @plasticne. One picture was from 2016 while the other one was from 2023. A few noticed the difference in how Selena's eyes looked in the pictures. However, many fans defended the singer, claiming that it's just natural aging and there's no surgical altercation whatsoever.

"I see no plastic here," a fan commented. "I see age, weight gain, and steroid side effects. None of these are anything to be hated on or called out for! All very natural and realistic parts of being human!" she concluded.

Did Selena Gomez Have Plastic Surgery?

Fans on Twitter have been speculating about the actress's surgery rumors as they question why she looks so different. One user wrote, "Did Selena Gomez get plastic surgery or something? She looks so different. Not 'growing up' different, but different different."

Inquiries, criticism and speculation are precisely what Selena is currently facing after photos of her collaboration with La'Mariette swimwear were officially released.

Her followers are going out of their way to question Selena if she had plastic surgery.

Specifically, the question regarding her breast enhancement surgery is being posed a lot.

Online celebrity media outlets have also reported that according to experts, the Lose You to Love Me singer did get breast enhancement surgery done on herself.

The singer's photos for her swimwear collaboration with the La'Mariette capsule collection are, without a doubt, quite remarkable, and fans on Twitter almost entirely agree that Selena looks downright hot. However, as fans appreciated how marvelous she looked in the photos, thousands also gathered to speculate about the star's surgery. One user tweeted, "Looks like Selena Gomez has breast implants."

Did Selena Gomez Get Breast Implants?

While many of her fans wonder why her breasts looked so enlarged, some even claimed Selena was given off Nicki Minaj's vibes. However, the majority of fans were wowed by how stunning she looked. Selena Gomez has been the target of speculations about her enhancements before fans speculated in 2014 that the then 22-year-old actress had had her breasts done, and speculation of plastic surgery continues into 2023. This came after images of her wearing a low-cut shirt were leaked. Following this, inside sources told the magazine that they were nothing more than rumors with no basis.

After removing her most-liked post on Instagram in 2018, reports of Selena getting work done resurfaced yet again. The star was wearing a low-cut dress and holding a drink in the two photos. Most of the comments on the post and afterward on Twitter centered on the fact that Selena's breasts appeared to be much bigger than they had been before.

Two plastic surgery specialists spoke to Life & Style Magazine the same year regarding the potential of Selena getting modifications. Dr. Manish Shah and Dr. Normal M. Rowe said there was a good chance she got a breast job. Even though none of them had ever treated Selena, they appeared to believe it was pretty clear that the actress had some treatment done. However, they did not think that she underwent extensive facial surgery, which has been a topic of debate among her supporters.

What Did Selena Gomez Do To Her Teeth?

Selena Gomez is very famous for her lovely smile. But a few years ago, she had pretty characteristic front teeth. The middle front part was slightly shorter than the side part, and the star had a little uneven coloring in her teeth but not that severe. Selena reshaped them a little for the first time, but it seemed like she didn't like their original color and shape. Now her teeth are more white. To sum up, the actress had minor issues of form and color in her front teeth, so she got her shaping at first, and then she proceeded to whiten all of them.

Has Selena Gomez Had A Nose Job?

Plastic surgery vlogger Lorry Hill believes that Selena had buccal fat removal. The buccal area is right below a person's cheekbones. Sometimes, fat is stored right in the buccal area of people with a compact face like the singer has. Now her cheeks look more defined, and they have an upward sweep. On the other hand, one of the most debated features is Selena's nose. Her nose looks more narrow overall. Hill speculates that she had her nose refined. The vlogger says, "she didn't need a nose job, but it really refined her nose, and it looks a lot more sculpted."

Selena Gomez Is Body Positive

Throughout all the speculation, Gomez has never publicly stated if she has received plastic surgery. Instead, Gomez focuses on creating a conversation of body positivity. She is very public about her battle with Lupus disease and how it affects her weight. The frequent weight fluctuation could be the reason behind the rumors of plastic surgery. The singer and actress continues to shut down hateful body-shaming, choosing to be confident in herself and her body.

Louplifts the fire